

A Message from Prophet Business Group President Randy Wozny on COVID-19

In the last couple of months, the world has come to recognize the risk posed by COVID-19. This pandemic is a global threat, with Manitoba already confirming up to 15 cases, and the situation is evolving rapidly.

We want to reassure you that operationally, Prophet is well prepared to ensure business continuity for all our clients. We have taken proactive steps and have an Infection prevention and control plan in place. We have the ability for all staff to work from home and we will be limiting on-site work wherever possible, as well as any non-essential business travel. Where on-site work is necessary, we will take precautions to protect our staff and your staff by following social distancing and using protective gear if we are required to touch employees keyboards, mice and/or phones. We are also monitoring any employees that may be returning from travel and ensuring the self-quarantining policies are being followed.

Prophet Business Group is confident that we will be able to continue operations and remain accessible to you, our valued customers. We will also work with you to help your organizations setup safe and secure remote access to company systems and data, where required. We want you to know we're here and committed to supporting you in any way we can.

Sincerely,

Randy Wozny, Owner
Prophet Business Group Ltd.
